

On November 19, 2020, Oaktree Strategic Income Corporation (“OCSI”) held a conference call to discuss OCSI’s financial results for the quarter and year ended September 30, 2020. The conference call contained information regarding OCSI’s proposed merger with Oaktree Specialty Lending Corporation (“OCSL”). The following are excerpts from the transcript of OCSI’s November 19, 2020 conference call discussing OCSI’s proposed merger with OCSL.

Before I turn the call over to Armen, I wanted to highlight OCSI’s plan to merge with and into Oaktree Specialty Lending Corporation, an affiliate business development company that’s also managed by Oaktree. We believe this merger represents a great opportunity for shareholders of both OCSI and OCSL. It will create a larger, more scaled BDC that we expect will have increased trading liquidity. The merger could potentially broaden the combined company’s shareholder base, and it may improve access to lower cost sources of debt. We also anticipate that it will drive NII accretion over both the near and long term, benefiting shareholders.

We believe now is the right time to move forward with this merger. Both portfolios are in great shape and our transition out of non-core assets that we’ve been working on since 2017 is nearly complete. As you know, we have also focused on defensively positioning both portfolios by lending to more diversified businesses with little exposure to cyclical industries, companies that we believe will be resilient through the pandemic. We appreciate all the support that we have received to date.

In terms of next steps, we anticipate filing the N-14 joint proxy statement in the coming weeks and expect the transaction will close in the first calendar quarter of 2021, subject to shareholder approval and satisfaction of the closing conditions as outlined in the merger agreement.

We are also looking forward to the pending merger with OCSL as we believe that this combination benefits both shareholders through scale, portfolio diversity and expected earnings accretion.

We are excited about the future for the combined company and remain confident that we will continue to identify new attractive risk-adjusted investment opportunities that are consistent with Oaktree’s disciplined risk controlled approach, enabling us to deliver improved returns to our shareholders.
